

ART AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

A Juried Exhibition

July 2 – August 13, 2021

Exhibition Statement

Although this exhibition will be juried with the same standards as other art exhibitions - originality, formal interest, strength and clarity of visual statement - it is a specialized exhibition and has additional criteria.

ITS CONTENT IS LIMITED TO CONCERNS FOR A SOCIALLY JUST WORLD.

South Bend Heritage Foundation (SBHF), a local community development corporation in South Bend, Indiana, developed the Colfax Campus as part of its strategy for energizing a previously neglected urban neighborhood. The Colfax Campus Gallery is located in the Colfax Cultural Center, a former 1898 elementary school building. The gallery spaces are also used as rooms where many diverse groups meet. As a result, new and fresh audiences are continually introduced to the arts.

“Art and Social Justice” was the title of a joint exhibition of work by artists Jake Webster and Douglas Kinsey. The theme, a socially just world, is particularly reflective of South Bend Heritage Foundation’s mission and therefore inspired this annual juried exhibition. Now in its 32nd year, the annual Art and Social Justice Exhibition has become a significant and anticipated Colfax Campus Gallery event.

Juror: Mark Rospenda, Curator at the South Bend Museum of Art
